

#TheFumble

Not A Lot to Say About This ~

It is Scott City Week Ya Know

This was ruled to be not A Fumble. However, in East Prairie Lore, it is recalled as such.

Clinging to A Lead Late in the 4th Quarter, the Eagles had to Win the Game to reach the playoffs for the first time since 1976.

The Crowd Was Mammoth; The Noise Deafening as the #Ep Faithful railed for A Stop on Defense.

And, then it Happened. The Rams coughed it up on the turf and the Eagles pounced On The Loose Ball.

Wait? What?

Somehow, the Officiating Crew that Evening was in A Daze ~ Perhaps by the Atmosphere; or the Big Game Nature ~ or whatever ~ he fumbled the Damn Ball, all-right.

Sheesh.

A Blind Kow Cheerleader Kould Have Seen It.

Well, you know what happened next. Two Plays Later, A Ram rumbles into the end-zone and the Eagles Hopes for A Playoff Berth Crushed.

Seems Like Only Yesterday.

Did I Tell You It is Scott City Week?
